Indian Names. Ye say they all have passed away,

That noble race and brave; That their light cances have vanished From off the created wave. That mid the forest where they roamed There rings no hunter shout; But their name is on your waters

Ye may not wash it out Tis where Ontario's billow Like ocean's surge is curled; Where strong Ningara's thunders wake The cebe of the world: Where red Missouri bringeth

Rich tribute from the wort. And Rappakannock sweetly sleeps On green Virginia's breast Ye say their conclike cabins That clustered o'er the vale, Have fled away like withered leave

Before the autumn gale; But their memory liveth on your hills. Their leption on your shore Your everlasting civers speak Their dialect of yore.

Old Massachusets wears it Within her lordly crown And broad Ohio bears it Amid her young renown.

Connecticut bath wreathed it Where her quiet foliage waves, And hold Kentucky breathed it hours Through all her ancient caves

Wachnest hides its lingering voice Within his rocky heart. And Alleghany graves its tone Throughout his lofty chart; Monadnock on his forhead hoar

Doth seal the sacred trust; Your mountains are their monument Though ye destroy their dust
